

LinkPath is committed to treating customer and user personal information collected on the Internet through the LinkPath system in accordance with all applicable laws and the strict internal protocol outlined herein.

Please read our Privacy Policy Statement carefully which we suggest you print. By using this website or the LinkPath system you are accepting the practices and policies herein notwithstanding that you may not have read this Privacy Policy Statement. If you do not agree with any part hereof or any updated changes, do not use this site or LinkPath's system.

LinkPath creates online digital editions of its customers' publications, catalogs, newsletters and other printed products and in some cases, provides tools such as more info, reader card and subscription requests, which allow readers to communicate with such customers. Our standard Customer Terms and Conditions require that such customers comply with all privacy laws and requirements, especially any related to the collection, use, retention and disclosure of information, personal and otherwise.

This Privacy Policy Statement by LinkPath explains LinkPath's privacy practices. It does not bind third parties, including our customers or the operators of any other websites you visit before or after visiting our website or that of any of our customers. LinkPath takes no responsibility for information delivered by you through its system to such third parties. In these cases we recommend that you become familiar with their respective privacy policies.

The LinkPath system collects information from its users, which may in some cases be personally identifiable. Much of this information you voluntarily provide, such as when you subscribe to a publication or order a product and register your name, residential address, email address and credit card information. It is then processed and delivered to the appropriate party so that your request is fulfilled and you are sent related information from time to time.

LinkPath does not knowingly send unsolicited email, but may send you an email in connection with providing you LinkPath services and/or those of our customers. The LinkPath system may be used by our customers to send you emails in connection with any product or services you have ordered or enquiry you have made and any related marketing information from time to time.

Other information is collected automatically by the LinkPath system including your IP address, tracking information and email activity levels. The LinkPath system uses Cookies. A Cookie is simply information that your browser stores on your computer from a specific site. It allows us to identify you as a repeat visitor and track usage patterns. Cookies may be used by LinkPath customers and are not subject to LinkPath's control.

We may share information with our affiliated companies for internal purposes. Any information collected through the LinkPath system may be used to assemble and disseminate anonymous aggregated information for use by LinkPath, its customers and/or other interested parties. LinkPath may access and disclose information, including that which may be individually identifiable in order to comply with laws and government requests, protect its own rights and property and properly operate the LinkPath system.

LinkPath strives to keep information up to date, but you are also responsible for ensuring any information on file is accurate and current. Information is to be retained only for so long as is reasonably necessary to deliver services to you and for a reasonable time thereafter in case we need to meet any potential obligations or legal or governmental requirements.

LinkPath takes all commercially reasonable steps to safeguard your information under our control against loss, theft, modification or misuse. Data networks are protected to industry standard firewall and password protection. Our employees are made aware of the importance of maintaining confidentiality of information and our security policies are reviewed periodically.

You may review any of your Personal Information in our possession or control subject to certain restriction, such as legal privilege. You may change or withdraw any consent you have given us with respect to the collection, use or disclosure of information, subject to reasonable notice and any legal or contractual restrictions. This may affect LinkPath's or its customers' ability to continue to provide services to you and we retain the option to modify or discontinue them.
